

This 37 year old cask strength rum was bottled in January of 1983 in the Las Cabras Distillery in Panama, which today goes by the name Alcoholes del Istmo. Its impressive age is matched by its uniquely dark mahogany-colouring. This tone is the result of the extensive maturing process in former Bourbon casks and is gained without additive colorants or sugar.

This Single Cask Edition does not undertake an additional finishing procedure, which makes it a true exception in the range of Bellamy's Reserve Rum. It is limited to 275 bottles worldwide and is expected to delight particularly rum aficionados and collectors.
